A juried exhibit of furniture, jewelry, musical instruments and bookbindings crafted by NBSS distinguished graduates – titled A Dedication to Craft: North Bennet Street School at 125 – was held at the Concord Museum in Concord Massachusetts from November 13, 2009 to March 21, 2010.

In May 2010, the annual student exhibit was held in the historic former Old Corner Bookstore in Boston's Downtown Crossing. The exhibit was so successful that its one-month stay was extended to two...and then three months. Thousands of Bostonians and tourists had the opportunity to see the extraordinary work of NBSS students and learn more about the school.

Furniture makers across the country and around the world converged on Boston in June 2010 for the annual conference of The Furniture Society, an international non-profit organization dedicated to advancing the art of furniture making. NBSS played a prominent role in the week-long conference, which was organized by Richard Oedel (CF '05), chair of the local conference committee.

Addressing 95 graduating students and their families assembled at Old North Church on the occasion the school's 125th anniversary graduation, Edward S. Cooke Jr., Professor of History of Art, American Decorative Arts and Material Culture at Yale University, noted that "North Bennet Street School is a bully pulpit for craft," and argued that the school's enduring presence proves the viability of craft in an industrial society.

With funding received from the 1772 Foundation, NBSS established Handmade Houses, an innovative training program that involves NBSS preservation carpentry students in the identification and preservation of buildings in Boston's neighborhood

FINANCIALS

TREASURER'S REPORT

North Bennet Street School
August 1, 2009 – July 31, 2010

On behalf of the Finance Committee of the Board of Directors, I am pleased to submit this financial report for the fiscal year 2010.

Once again, under the leadership and engagement of the administration and faculty, the school realized a healthy excess of revenue over expenses. Income rose 2.03% over the previous year, largely due to project and instrument revenue and gains on investments, which followed FY 2009's investment losses. Other revenue categories continued the strong trend of recent years. For example, although contributions, gifts and grants did not match the spectacular level of 2009, they produced $955,536 for the school. This number is particularly notable given the nation's on-going economic slump and the challenges facing non-profit organizations around the country. Overall revenue totaled $4,278,639.

As in previous years, the school did not need to use income from its endowment to support the operating budget (with the exception of funds for scholarships that are taken annually from the endowed scholarship fund).

Though I do not have the time to go into detail, I would like to highlight a few key areas of success. In 2009, we saw a significant increase in our operating budget, which was primarily due to the success of our fundraising efforts. We were able to raise over $1 million in additional revenue, which allowed us to maintain our current level of operations despite the economic downturn. This was a testament to the dedication and hard work of our staff and volunteers, as well as the support of our donors and the community. We are proud of the achievements of our school and look forward to continuing our mission in the future.

The official NCAA sport is table hockey. In 2010, the National Public Radio show Only a Game, produced by NPR in Boston, featured the intramural championship game.

At the graduation ceremony in June 2010, the 2010 Distinguished Alumni Award was presented to Eva Martin of Queensland, Australia, a 2003 graduate of the jewelry making and repair program.

Jewelry making and repair alumnae Emily Scott ('07) and Amanda Aker ('07) represented the department and the school at the annual SNAG conference in Houston, Texas (Emily) and the MJSA conference in New York City (Amanda).

Curtis Buchanan, a master chair maker from Tennessee and Peter Galbert, an up-and-coming maker, presented a Windsor chair workshop for interested students.

Filming for a new PBS show Rough Cut, featuring cabinet and furniture making graduate Tom MacDonald '02, began during the year. NBSS faculty member Steve Brown is the technical advisor for the show, Eli Cleveland '09 is the production assistant, students Mark Ferioli and Ryan Messier were behind the scenes assistants.
